Foreword . . .

To epitomize our high school days at this significant moment of graduation, we present "Marsengold," another in a long line of "Marsengolds" from Sharon High School's senior classes. Yet, it is different from the others as they each one were different, for it represents us; our likes, our dislikes, our goals and ideas. It represents the vast fund of materials that fashioned the key we now hold—the key to our futures. And to those who read these pages, may they realize, as we have, that this is the key to the Class of 1959.

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1959, wish to dedicate this book to Miss Marion Haley and Mr. Gary Hall. In a very real sense this is not solely our dedication. Rather, it is the sincere expression of all those classes which have preceded us, and, we feel confident, of those classes which will follow us.

In their positions as the athletic directors of Sharon High School, Miss Haley and Mr. Hall have guided us, counseled us, and in doing so, have imparted to us a synthesis of sportsmanship, service, and spirit for which we are sincerely grateful. And so, we, in appreciation for all that they have done for us and for our school, dedicate our yearbook to them.

Dedication . . .

Mr. Raman now halds the pasitian af vice-principal. As aur teacher and Eagle advisor, he has done much far aur class, and we would like ta express aur gratitude to him.

(Below) Mr. James J. Dawd.

In the short time Mr. Dawd has been principal of our schaal, we have faund his friendship and interest in aur class a real asset. We are sincerely glad to have had this appartunity to assaciate with Mr. Dawd and benefit fram his knawledge and wise advice.

IN MEMORIAM

John Wesley Biggs, Jr.

With the passing of John, the class of 1959 lost one of its most beloved classmates. His jovial personality gained the friendship of all and brought sunshine to our school. He left Sharon High School to attend Augusta Military Academy in the fall of 1957, and was to have come back to Sharon to spend the school year with his classmates. Looking forward to his return, everyone was greatly shocked by his sudden death on July 26, 1958. His memory will always remain in the hearts of his friends.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

PERSONALITIES

Next year's Seniors are now preparing themselves for the year which makes them the high and mighty overlords of all those who are unfortunate enough to have been born after them. They love the spirit and the size. The Juniors are prepared to fill the role of master in great proportions, for they will be the biggest Senior class in the high school's history. The number of students in the classes is going up and this year's school-spirited and active Junior class is the vanguard of this growing trend.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Each spring the student body of Sharon High School goes to the polls in order to pick candidates that will represent it in the forthcoming year. The body elected is the Student Council, whose duty it is to improve our school in every respect. This year's council, as in the past, has lived up to its duty and has worked for the benefit of the school and the student body.

Work is not a word that is foreign to the ears of the members of the Student Council, for throughout the year the council has worked on numerous programs designed to help the school. The council's assembly committee planned this year's assembly program. The candy sold at the games is another council service. The council-sponsored scholarship fund has become an annual project as has the dance that accompanies it. Other benefits the Student Council gives to the student body include honor study passes, basketball pencils, handbooks, Christmas drawing contest, and the supply room. This past year saw the first Student Council Convention held in Sharon bringing honors to our school for it's fine program.

Under the leadership of president Bert Sacks and faculty advisor Mr. Walter Benoit, this year has been another year of accomplishment and distinguished service for the Student Council.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

What seemed like a year possed in a few tense moments as the members of the National Honor Society were tapped. And then, there they stood on the auditorium stage, representing scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the top 15 per cent of the c!ass of 1959 — Borbara Burch, Katherine Cilley, and Bertram Sacks, chosen in their junior year, and Judith Abel, Beotrice Gool, Cothleen Golvin, Sheila Gordon, Sally Kirouac, Robert Weeks, Thomas Wells, and Louise Whittam.

Two months ofter the seniors were tapped, juniors, Noncy Blyler, Holly Catherall, A!bert Gordon, Marion Holl, Dione Hamm, Dianne Madden, Barbora White joined the seniors on the stoge.

To be chosen os an Honor Society member is the highest goal any student con ottain, for in possessing the quolities of scholarship, leodership, chorocter, and service, he possesses all thot personifies an outstanding individual.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

At eoch bi-weekly meeting of the Future Teochers of Americo, room 206 heors the chotter of opproximotely twenty-seven girls who are ottempting to discover if they hove whot it takes to become o good teacher. This group, or the Ann Sullivon Chopter of the national organization, storted three yeors ogo by Mr. Dunn, hos made much progress under his direction. Observing children at various oges in the clossroom and doing substitute teaching are some of the organizotion's most interesting projects.

As Curt Isakson, president of this years Boys' Vorsity Club, colls the weekly meeting to order, he inevitobly finds opposition from Albie Postmon who is carrying on o heoted discussion with other club members over the success of Shoron's teams. Also hindering porliomentory order is Som Apgor, still busily signing his Senior pictures for the girls in the corridor.

When the meeting is eventuolly colled to order, however, it is evident thot Shoron's Boys' Varsity Club is one of the most octive organizations in the school. The discussion ronges at this meeting from student buses for bosketboll gomes, to sponsoring intromurol sports, to arranging for the annual Tolent Show.

Each year the Boys' Varsity Club holds its Food Sale to provide funds to better Sharon's athletic focilities, contribute to Sharon's scholarship fund, and sponsor the many similor worthwhile activities for the improvement of the school. Other onnual highlights of the school year are provided through the joint efforts of both the Boys' and Girls' Varsity Clubs towards producing the Halloween Dance, Pep Rally, and Field Doy Events.

The club owes its success to both its active membership ond the competent guidonce of its hord-working odvisor, Mr. Gary Hall. Certoinly, the Boys' Vorsity Club con be proud of its contributions to Sharon High School.

GIRLS' VARSITY

The door of room 100 slams shut for about the thirtieth time and the members of the Girls' Varsity Club eventually come to order for their enthusiastic president, Judy Foster. Sally Kirouac seems glad that the vice president doesn't have to call for order over the din. If Barbara Burch and Sheila Gordon are quiet, they are probably doing French. There is a sizeable amount of "gabbing" going on, but the total picture proves that the girls accomplish a great deal.

Not only does the club conduct all girls' intramural sports as well as varsity sports and Field Day, but this year it has donated substantially to the scholarship fund and, with the Boys' Varsity, has contributed toward starting a sports' library of films for the school. This year some of the girls attended a basketball clinic where they learned many new basketball techniques for themselves and the team. The girls plan to coordinate more of their projects with the boys' club. The future may see "coed" cake sales and car washes and perhaps even a combination of male and female humor in the inimitable varsity club skits.

Advised by Miss Marion Haley, the Girls' Varsity Club is one of the school's outstanding organizations.

SHARON HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Anyone passing the school at 9:05 Friday marning's might wonder why the auditarium seemed ta be vibrating. A glance inside the schaal explains this weekly phenamenan. Sharan High School's popular band is apening anather assembly program. Under the competent directian af Mr. Philip Haffman, the fifty-five members af this ca-ardinated band walked away with a class A rating at the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Festival last May. Marches, novelties, and light classics are all included in the repertaire. The Sports Band, a smaller division which plays at the basketball games, alsa plays school sangs and papular music. With sa many musical activities in the schaal, we can be sure that the Band will continue its deserving success.

Under the copoble direction of Mr. Philip Hoffmon, the Shoron High School Orchestro is growing bigger ond better every yeor. When the thirty members perform, the polished tones of such selections os Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" ond short compositions by Beethoven, Brohms, ond Rogers ond Hommerstein fill the ouditorium. Eoch yeor, members from the orchestro porticipote in the Southeostern Mossachusetts Music Festivol; other students hove been privileged to ploy with the Shoron Civic Orchestro. Shoron High School is proud of the achievements of this instrumental group, ond hopes thot their success will continue in the future.

ORCHESTRA

GLEE CLUB AND CHORUS

A loud guffaw breaks the song "Go Tell It On The Mountoin" into cacophony, and Sam Apgar has manoged to get Curt Isakson laughing. This usually results in an hilarious uproar climoxed by another of Curt's characteristic fits of vibrating silence. Though the meetings are often filled with laughter, the finol results are odmiroble, as was evidenced by the fine Christmas assembly concert.

The Glee Club and Chorus have o full schedule this year. As we go to press, they are preparing for a joint concert with Providence Classical High School in which they will do Mozort's "Coronotion Moss" and a medley of songs from the musicol "South Pacific." Many members have porticipoted in concerts with other towns ond will ottend S. E. M. S. B. A. this year.

These organizations, the Glee Club and Chorus, ore two of the most populor octivities in the school, as shown by their sizeable memberships. With a blending of Classical ond Popular music, the choral groups odd much to Shoron High School.

Mrs. Eleonor Edwards, odvisor

DEBATING CLUB

The Debating Club was formed in Sharon High School three years ago, and since that time has climbed up the ladder of achievement and popularity. The students of S. H. S. have found in the debating club an organization which develops their power of speaking and provides a medium for competition.

Throughout the year, the club busies itself with preparing for debates with other schools and for local organizations. In attending one of the Wednesday meetings, one becomes well-acquainted with the club's axiom—"Hard work and lots of it is what makes a debator." The club members prepare weekly debates to supplement their schedule of outside debates. Each debate involves long hours of work for each person, but the members of the club willingly participate whether it be for the P. T. A. or another school or the club itself.

Under the direction of Mr. Coughlin, the club has begun to engage in inter-scholastic debating and has achieved a high degree of success in this field. In defeating nearly all its opponents, the club promises even further triumphs next year.

Belleruth Krepon, Corresponding Secretary; Christopher Dann, President; Lindo Robert, Recording Secretory; Mr. William Coughlin, Advisor.

Mr. Blake, Advisor

DRAMATICS CLUB

Make-up demanstratians, set designs, short plays, manolagues—these are all a part af this year's Dramatics Club meetings. Members present these projects ta earn their points as a part of the club's new paint system, and with these presentatians, pravide for tharaughly enjoyable meetings.

As we ga ta press, the club is rehearsing "Riders to the Sea" which it will present at the Massachusetts Drama Festival. Under the expert direction af Mr. Ernest Blake, club advisor, this play pramises to be as fine as last year's enarmausly successful "Scarecrow."

Judith Abel, Carl Schwarzler, Mr. Blake, Stephanie Steinberg, Barbara Burch.

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS CLUB

Each Friday the peerless Chum Flynn finds his solicitations for Visual Aids Club dues met with the unbated mumblings of "those who forgot again this week." President Dick Wright is busy preparing the electrical equipment for the morning's assembly. In his absence Kevin Murphy and Betty Wallace, the other club officers, under the counsel of Mr. Marcus, advisor, find their agenda includes many of the services that they render the school. Each member is responsible for the use and maintenance of the school's motion picture and slide projectors and tape recorder, along with the operation of the console.

One of the most unique of the projects undertaken by this club is the filming of Sharon's student activities. We are accustomed to seeing their members with the club's motion picture camera at pep rallies, basketball games, and many other school functions. They are hoping to compile this footage for presentation, showing student life at Sharon High School.

The best of luck to Sharon's Audio-Visual Aids Club in their fine undertakings.

EAGLE

The boisterous group overflowing room 100 finally becomes quiet at the amazingly loud call for order from either of the amazingly small editors, Nancy Blyler and Louise Whittam. Under their capable leadership and the direction of the club's advisor, Miss Mary Benson, the 1958-59 Eagle soared to undreamed of heights with four to five printed issues. The fact that the newspaper has developed beyond the mimeographing stage is indicative of the rapid growth of the school. The journalism class, which was initiated this year, to prepare "cub reporters," is certainly another progressive step toward a higher quality paper.

Because it is the only school organization which, in its accurate coverage of Sharon High School news and events, is recording this growth, and because it actively provides an outlet for the creativity of Sharon students, the Eagle is one of the most essential and worth-while activities in the school.

MARSENGOLD

Almost every Tuesday afternoon the stalwart staff editors are crowded together for a meeting in the "spacious" office of T. Moore Wells, Yearbook Editor. Various and sundry other times found individual staff meetings (in more comfortable quarters) developing their parts of the yearbook. Saturated in senior spirit, the meetings were fun; but the work, however enjoyable, was difficult and extensive. The last minute drives for ads, the riotous literary staff meetings, the rush to meet deadlines — all are unforgettable. But with the co-operation of all the Marsengold members, the advice of Mr. Howard Burns and Mrs. Ruth Rivkin, and the extraordinarily capable and untiring leadership of Tom Wells, Marsengold went to press as the "key" to the Class of 1959.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

"There goes Marty!"

"No, that's Albie!"

Trying to keep the Pastman twins straight was almost amusing for Sharon rooters and especially pleasant in view of the fact that their likeness would certainly confuse opposing teams. The confusion wasn't quite enough at first. But, after some bad luck going into the first few games, our boys climaxed the season with the supreme victory. We defeated Oliver Ames 64-53, finally putting a dent in their perfect three-year winning streak, and, as we go to press, our Eagles are making a valiant attempt to rise from fifth into second place in the league.

Every game had its highlights this year, and we can look back on some mighty frantic moments during the closing minutes of several games. Our boys played exceptionally smooth basketball this season and maintained, as well, their fine reputation as good sportsmen.

Special recognition goes to the JV's who held a perfect record, winning all their games. We wish both teams the best of luck and continued success next year.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Gladiatars storted the seasan off with o bong defeoting Oliver Ames 42 to 33. Dianne O'Dannell, high scarer for the yeor, mode 29 out of the 42 points. They come bock with onother spectacular defeot over King Philip ofter losing to Conton and Monsfield. Since that time they hove not been as successful as wos expected, winning two out of the nine games; but they deserve a lot of credit for their determinotion and spirit in the mony exciting gomes of the seoson.

Spectocular plays, defense combinotions, well-orgonized teamwark, high spirit and sheer enjoyment of the gome are a few of the teom's autstanding highlights.

Both junior vorsity ond vorsity teoms hove done good jobs under Miss Holey's expert cooching. She is constontly trying to interest more people in bosketboll ond to promote good sportsmonship.

CHEERLEADERS

Every team engaged in competitive sports appreciates the vocal support of its fans. The Sharon Eagles have been cheered to many victories by the exuberant cheerleaders, and encouraged when the game was lost. Captain Judy Foster supplied the pep, and the girls gave the necessary steam for the cheers. This year, several new cheers were introduced, including the popular "Death Chant." None of the girls will forget the game with Randolph, when Sharon was behind and obviously losing. Excitedly, the girls went out on the floor and started to yell, "No hope for Randolph!" The good humor of the girls in the face of their blunder shows their consistent cheerfulness and spirit in support of the team. The cheerleaders for this year are: Judith Foster, Captain; Cathleen Galvin, Barbara Burch, Katherine Cilley, Barbara Wood, Nancy Blyler, Jennifer Bradford. Substitutes; Susan Stone, Carol Huerth, Diane Hamm, Barbara White.

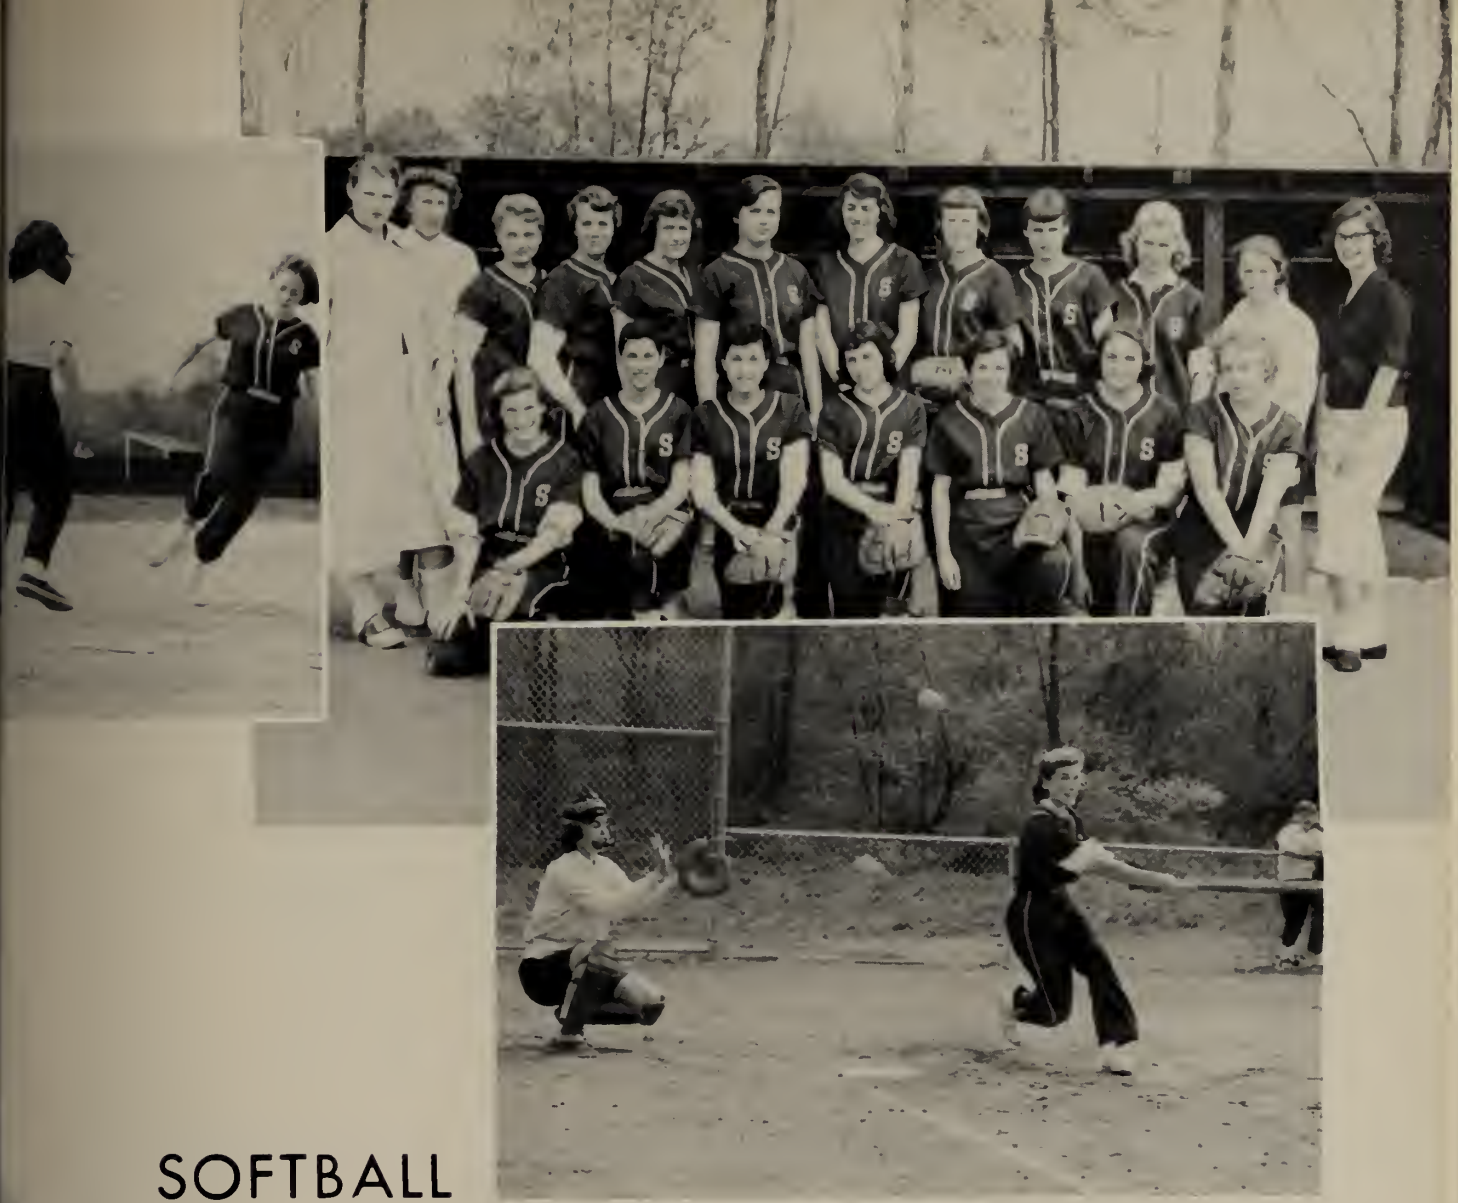
BASEBALL

Last year's varsity baseball team, playing under the intensive coaching of Mr. Gary Hall, completed the full schedule of fourteen games in the Hockamack League. Among the highlights of last year's season were the wins against Westwood and Canton. Along with these victories, one of the more unique sidelights of last year's season occurred when Sherman Smith, assistant manager responsible for equipment, forgot the baseballs. The team arrived at Mansfield to find it needed to borrow practice balls from the opposition. Sharon went on to overcome this handicap and defeat Mansfield by an 11-4 score. Throughout the year, Sharon continued to show just this team spirit which led our team to victory over Mansfield.

Won 3, lost 11



SOFTBALL

This year's softball team has continued ta play in the same spirit so typical af the teams af Sharan High. The team's recard is faur wins against three lasses, and every game was an enthusiastic baut.

Saftball has grawn increasingly in popularity thraugh the years. Last year, the number af spectatar and players reached its all-time high, with more than sixty girls attending spring tryauts.

The team is caached by Miss Marian Haley, and captained by a different team member at each game. The team is grawing larger and stranger every year, and we feel sure that they will cantinue ta fallaw in the traditian af Sharan High Schaal.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' TENNIS

Rigorous bi-weekly proctices were the rule, ond mony rocket corrying ospironts were discouroged, but in o relotively short time the hordier ployers emerged os two outstonding ond motch-winning teoms.

Under the skillful direction of Mr. Dunn, troining begon os o series of exhousting exercises, developing quickly into octuol intro-teom motches on the Junior High courts. Bock in the High School Gym more thon one omusing incident occurred. Tennis bolls often rolled into the boys' locker room during girls' proctices, and once Mr. Dunn wos in the woy of o hord-hit smosh which hit him hord in the stomoch. Along with the loughs ond good spirits the ployers become increosingly more proficient. Even the group of girls who joined to leorn the gome but never octuolly competed got o good bockground in fundomentols.

With o solid core of lost yeor's better ployers remoining, this yeor's tennis teoms should prove to be two equolly fine ond successful groups, stiff competition for ony opponent.

Features . . .

JUNIOR PROM

Frantic groups of students dashed around the cafeteria and willing hands worked diligently to complete the decorations.

"You and your aesthetic taste!" someone complained loudly. A shout attracted attention to Bert Sacks, who was perched precariously on the rim of the cafeteria balcony.

Surprisingly enough, out of the confusion and hubbub emerged one of the finest Junior Proms that Sharon has ever witnessed. It was a perfect evening, with a sophisticated black and white decor, smooth dance music, and climaxed by the dignified Grand March.

Of course, there was the chandelier that almost fell down, and the fountain that showered a few people, but no one really cared. It was a wonderful night. . .

SENIOR PLAY

Memories of the Senior Ploy will never be forgotten. "Yeors Ago" by Ruth Gordon, proved to be on excellent choice. Even Punk, the cot, oided in the success of the ploy by moking severol noncholont, but professionol entronces ond exits, much to the delight of the dubious cost. Few people reolize the exhousting omount of work that goes into this type of production, with its entire success dependent upon the director. Our class wos fortunate indeed. With Mr. Ernest Blake ot the helm, co-ordinoting the players and the various crews into one smooth performonce, the totol result of hours of hord work was o rewording experience for the entire Senior class.

Our Class Officers, Bert Socks, Ricky Greenfield, Sheila Gardan and Judy Faster, hove grawn quite a bit since the abave pictures were taken. Sa hove we oll, in wisdam ond in stoture. For a parting shat in these, the final pages af Marsengald, 1959, we leove yau with some impressians af aur lighter side. And so, with these memaries, we leave Sharan High Schaol, same af us to wark, some af us to college, ta take aur places amang men.
